AGM speakers make their mark

Motec has come a long way since its inception well over a year ago. It began with a handful of members who had taken the bold decision to embark on charitable medical work in Ghana. Membership has rapidly increased since then, as has the scope of work. Our visits have been difficult and challenging to say the least and have stretched our meagre resources to the limit.

Members have and continue to make selfless sacrifices in not only giving of their hard earned annual leaves but also making financial contributions and sparing their personal time to keep Motec on its feet. It has so far fallen on a few to keep the wheels moving and we appeal for additional support and participation from all, be it material, human or financial. We obviously welcome any support from outside the Motec membership itself.

With our drive to focus strongly on education during our medical missions, we will need professional volunteers and educational material for educational programs as and when these are drawn up.

We are hopeful that one day it will be possible for some of our hospital trusts in the spirit of charity to offer professional leave not only for doctors but also for other medical staff to undertake such medical charity work.

We have identified the need for serviceable hospital and laboratory equipment that may become available to give away in hospitals when being replaced by new stock and anyone who becomes aware of any availability could make necessary enquiries and contact Motec. We could do with help for administrative work and with office supplies and even need office space. We have in the past year had various fundraising activities organised by some of our members and we encourage more of this.

All in all we hope more members will be able to find time from their busy work schedules to attend our meetings so you can be in the picture of activities and problems that we face and thereby offer what help is best needed.

To this end we extend our thanks and appreciation the support we already have from members and companies like Corin, MIDA, British airways and many others I cannot elaborate here as well as individuals who provide assistance to us in many ways. No form of help or contribution is too small. 'Tesco' will say 'Every Little helps'

Thank You
