

Motec at Global Surgical Conference in London, 28th April 2014

Motec has been made proud by two eminent volunteers who represented our charity at the Global Surgical Conference at the Royal Society of Medicine in London on Tuesday 28th April 2015.

Dr Natasha Jiwa is seen in the pictures presenting Motec projects to the audience in London. Preparations for the conference was supported by Motec Vice President, Dr Louisa Draper.

Professor Chris Lavy, convener of the conference lauds Motec in a statement of appreciation in a mail sent to two volunteers.

Global Frontiers indeed with Motec volunteers working same week in Nigeria and Ghana. Well done to Louisa and Natasha and all behind the scenes!
