

deSoutter steps in again!

Mr Max De Soutter, the International Sales Manager of a British surgical power tool manufacturer has donated a set power tools worth about ten thousand pounds sterling to MotecLife-UK to assist with orthopaedic trauma work by the charity in Ghana.

Max, the son of the founder of the international company De Soutter Medical was assisted in the presentation by Mat Villa, regional representative of the Company.

The company has now re-located to a beautiful countryside in Buckinghamshire into a brand new facility with additional lustre of conference and social halls. Motec will be looking at holding educational sessions and meetings at the facility in future.

De Soutter family and company has been very supportive of Motec for over four years and Motec is very grateful to the company for providing essential material for the ground work of Motec in Ghana.
